experience

Pablo has been a partner of Ramón y Cajal Abogados since 2005. He heads the Administrative Law and Regulated Sectors Department and is co-head of the firm's Energy and Infrastructure areas. Prior to joining the Firm in 2000, he worked in the Legal Affairs Department of the Council of Europe (Strasbourg, France) and at the Department of International Public Law of the University of Zaragoza.

With twenty-two years of experience in advising public and private clients in all areas of administrative law (administrative organisation, public sector procurement, public property, expropriation, state liability, subsidies, infringements and penalties, general provisions, etc.), he is particularly specialised in advising in the fields of energy, natural resources, infrastructure and public services, transport and telecommunications. He is regularly involved in operations relating to electricity generation facilities and in the design and implementation of various public-private partnership schemes in the fields of infrastructure and transport. In addition, he regularly acts as legal counsel in all types of matters before the Contentious-Administrative Jurisdiction or the Constitutional Court and in arbitration proceedings in which regulatory issues are discussed.

Pablo is regularly recommended as a lawyer specialising in public law by leading international legal directories.
