experiencia

Pablo is Senior Associate at Ramón y Cajal Abogados. He specialises in competition law in Spain and in the EU and in the control of foreign investments in Spain.

In the area of competition law, he regularly advises on merger control and anticompetitive practices, both within the context of administrative proceedings before the competition authorities and in legal proceedings. He also carries out ex ante evaluations of potentially anticompetitive practices and draws up compliance programmes for companies.

His area of expertise covers a wide range of sectors such as banking, retail distribution, consumer goods, real estate, audiovisual media, telecommunications and pharmaceuticals.

Before joining Ramón y Cajal Abogados, Pablo worked in the Competition Practice of the Madrid office of the law firm Clifford Chance and was a legal secondee at the Samsung Europe office in London.
